

Incident management

Incidents of different severity and context may occur at any moment and can have catastrophic circumstances. That's why it's so important to address them quickly and effectively, to manage risks, create action plans and reports.

When it is necessary to facilitate coordination between all the responders and gather knowledge gained after incident resolution, The InToSoft development team utilize the power of .NET, SharePoint and multiple other platforms and frameworks to develop highly effective intellectual commutation and incident management systems for large enterprises, transportation services, crisis centers, correctional facilities. Once implemented, the system will help to detect incidents, analyze and classify them to suggest a needed resolution scenario.
