

Resource planning

Resource management and planning requires the ability to clearly estimate demand and supply. In order to do it properly companies should have visibility into all its processes, projects and resources.

InToSoft will empower you to examine resource needs with ease and to build resource plans on the go with secure and sound software solutions.

Depending on the requirements of your business, we can craft a unified system that will move your business to the next level by automating its processes - from marketing and sales (CRM) to HR and accounting. To make a perfect ERP for you, we will begin with the business analysis and gather all the requirements. Then, system architects will suggest a proper technical implementation tailored to your business.
